

EXCHANGE CLUB SPEAKER WARNS OF COMMUNISTS

Rev. James J. Bingham, A Former Pastor Here,
Delivers Address

'MUST GUARD LIBERTY'

Speaker Takes As His Topic 'Inheritance' and Makes Timely Talk

The Rev. James J. Bingham, former pastor of the Bristol Methodist Church, and a charter and honorary member of the Bristol Exchange Club, was the guest speaker at its meeting held last evening in the Elks' Home.

Using "Inheritance" as the subject of his remarks, the Rev. Bingham first called attention to the fact that by far the greater proportion of what we have in America today is ours by inheritance from those who have gone before us. "In this vast wealth of inheritance from the past, the one thing that is distinctly American is our American tradition and principle of individual liberty and freedom. For, while America is indeed 'America, the Beautiful,' with its amber fields of grain, its purple mountain majesties, its shining seas, yet it does not differ in this respect from other parts of the earth which are just as beautiful.

"Nor is America's material wealth its own distinctive characteristic, for there have been other nations in history whose wealth was comparably great; indeed, their wealth in material things was one of the causes of their downfall.

"No," said Mr. Bingham, "the most precious thing in our great American heritage is our belief in individual liberty and freedom.

"Since it is our most precious inheritance, our liberty must be most carefully guarded. We need never fear the loss of our liberty from outside, or foreign, forces; if we lose our liberty at all, it will be because of enemies within our midst. Those enemies are busy at work today. Using those very liberties of Freedom of Speech and Freedom of the Press, for their protection, Communists are blatantly advocating the overthrow of our form of government, no longer secretly or furtively, but openly and defiantly. With the overthrow of government, they will destroy all that government represents—law, order, and the peaceful pursuit of happiness, in the name of liberty and freedom, they seek to destroy liberty and freedom.

"Within the past few years, a dangerous threat to individual liberty has also developed through the unbridled growth of power in labor

Inside Your Congress

Watch Your Dollars!

—by—
SAMUEL R. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Suppose in January 1937, you sold a small house for $3,750 and bought government bonds, the kind where $37.50 becomes $50 in ten years. Well, the ten years have rolled around. You cash your bonds for $5,000. Can you buy back the house you sold for $3,750 with the $5,000 now in your hands?

No, you cannot. Your bonds earned $1,250 in interest, or $125 a year, but the gain in interest has not kept up with the shrinkage in the value of the dollar. Five thousand dollars today aren't worth what thirty seven hundred and fifty dollars were worth ten years ago. In addition, you owe your share of the national debt.

Why do dollars shrink in value? Is it your fault? No, you don't issue dollars — unless you are a counterfeiter. Who has control of money? Is it your state or local government? No, it is the United States government. So, what is responsible for the fact that your savings in bonds, insurance, bank deposits, pensions, social security cards, etc., won't buy today what they bought ten years ago? It is the administration of our government in Washington. The people are responsible only because they supported government policies under a cock-eyed notion that money is wealth. They are learning a lot on that subject these days.

Adult School Directors Meet With Instructors

At a meeting of the Bristol Adult School directors last evening it was announced that 260 people are taking courses in the school. The instructors for the different courses being taken were introduced.

It was decided, by the directors, that they would accept a few more registrants up until Monday evening if any are interested in taking a course. It was also decided to try to find out what courses the people would like to take next term so that such courses will be available.

The instructors for the following courses were introduced: Mrs. Lillie Edwards, Spanish; Mrs. Russell DeLong, bridge; Mrs. William Murray, typewriting; Phillip Frankmore, shorthand; Miss Sara Granzow, social dancing; John S. Schwartz, cabinet making and metal shops.

There are three instructors for the sewing classes: Mrs. William Pearson, Mrs. C. Althouse and Miss Hazel B. Cook. Gene Nichols is teaching photography and Lester Michaels is teaching drafting and mathematics.

EDGEHILL SCHOOL TO CLOSE JANUARY 31ST

Pupils Will Be Transported To The Hulmeville School Building

ROUTES RE-STUDIED

The Middletown Township board of school directors has voted to close Edgely School on January 31st, according to an announcement by Dr. O. Heckman, superintendent of Langhorne-Middletown district schools. "This action was prompted by an act of the 1945 General Assembly which requires board of school directors to show cause why one room schools must be kept open after the law is declared at an end by the president of the United States or by the governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," states Dr. Heckman. "The feeling was also expressed that there would be a better gradation of pupils by transporting them to Hulmeville where room facilities are available. A considerable saving will also be effected by closing this school."

Miss Ethel Federkell, who has been the teacher in this building for the past ten years, will teach in the Hulmeville grade school.

This year's enrollment in the Edgely school is 26; distributed by grades as follows: First, eight; second, eight; third, 10.

The transportation routes are being restudied and will be announced later. Pupils in Edgely locality will be transported to Hulmeville school. "Several parents of children who attend this school have expressed appreciation for the fact that the children will be in a better graded school system," commented Dr. Heckman, "and that they will have facilities and equipment which were not previously available to them. The newly-purchased motion picture machine at Hulmeville is one of the instructional aids which Edgely school did not have."

NEWPORTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. William Rigney, Newportville Heights, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a 9½ pound boy at their home on Monday evening. Mother and son are doing nicely.

THE HATE-GERMANY CLUB

In recent years various foreign nations, such as France and Great Britain, have reported officially the spending of large sums in this country for publicity, promotion and propaganda. It has been conspicuous that in such lists, the name of Russia usually has appeared with the note that no such expenditures have been made.

The inference has been drawn, of course, that the Russian nation and the Communist principle have been getting at least as much service of this sort as they want, "for free," from fellow-traveller organizations and individuals active here.

Communist propaganda takes many forms and uses many vehicles. Often those who spread it are quite unaware of the true nature of their utterances—just as diphtheria carriers may not know they are spreading the contagion.

A newspaper editorial or cartoon lampooning Congress, for instance, may do just as much to undermine the faith of the American people in their Constitutional institutions as though it had been bought and paid for by Moscow agents deliberately seeking to hasten a Socialist revolution here.

The groups and organizations which are being used as channels for Communist doctrines are beyond counting. They range from high Federal offices to CIO publicity releases, and from obscure "societies" to nationally known associations.

And in the majority of cases, those who belong, as well as those whose names are used as "fronts," in the work, are quite unaware of the real implications of the publicity thus distributed.

The way all this works can be shown in the case of a relatively new group which is steadily pushing in the direction of running open interference for Communism in general and Russian expansion in particular.

This is a non-profit "educational" organization, with headquarters at 515 Madison Avenue, New York, which rejoices in the slightly bombastic title of "Society for the Prevention of World War III, Inc."

It should be said at once that there is no thought, nor intention to imply, that this is a "Communist front" organization; nor that it is accepting money from Moscow or any Russian agents; nor that any of the many prominent figures listed as directors and advisors are either Communists or fellow-travelers.

ASS'T Supt GRUBER IS SPEAKER AT EDGELY

Illustrates Talk on Advantages of Visual Education By Means of Films

ACTIVITIES PLANNED

EDGELY, Jan. 17—An educational film entitled "The Story of the Earth's Crusts," was used by Paul Gruber, assistant superintendent of Bucks County Schools, to illustrate his address on the advantages of visual education in speaking to members of East Bristol Township Parent-Teacher Association, Tuesday evening, in Edgely school.

Introduced by Mrs. Sara Buckley, elementary supervisor of Bristol Township schools, Mr. Gruber endeavored to present to the teachers and members a clear picture of what is meant by visual education, choosing for his lesson the subject of geology, which, as he remarked, "is a tough one." Mr. Gruber showed charts and various stone formations as well as a miniature working volcano.

"A picture is worth a thousand words and we are going to try and make the entire teaching corps of the county. It will take years, but we are going to do it. I have been lecturing on this for five years now and see many results, but there is still plenty of work to be done."

HUSBAND CHANGES ATTITUDE AT COURT

Agrees to Pay $300 On A Support Order Made Several Weeks Ago

TWO VERDICTS GIVEN

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17—After being in the Bucks County prison six days, John Luszczak, formerly of Chalfont, now of 1630 St. Marks Square, Philadelphia, who was sentenced to jail a week ago on a contempt of court order charge, paid $300 and was released on Monday afternoon.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller on January 7 sentenced the defendant to prison because he was $285 in arrears on a support order for his wife, Helen, 1654 Ruffner street, Philadelphia, and a child.

When he appeared in court, here, Monday afternoon the defendant, who was extremely rebellious the week before, appeared quiet and gentle and was able to pay arrears amounting to $300 and the cost of prosecution.

The defendant, a former "war job" worker at Brewster, shouted to the Court last week that he was unable to find a job. His wife said he didn't look for work and that he didn't intend to comply with the order of the Court.

Judge Boyer, who asked the defendant why he didn't write and notify Domestic Relations Officer Horace E. Gwinner concerning his unemployment instead of ignoring the support order, said: "The Court will commit you to prison and see how you will like it 'down there' for a while."

Monday the defendant appeared before the Court with counsel who assured the Court there would be no trouble in the future. The defendant was permitted to sign his own bond.

Deliberating less than an hour, a jury on Monday afternoon returned a verdict of $185.39 in favor of the plaintiff, Ralph Datesman, Quakertown, R. D. 2, and against the defendant, Alfred Mertl, of Aumont, in Civil Court here.

In the absence of Judge Calvin S. Boyer, who is on leave of absence because of ill health, Judge Harold G. Knight presided at the trial which grew out of a two-car collision on Route 312 in Milford township March 29, 1942.

Rotary Club Interested In Youth Program Here

Arthur K. Henderson, Philadelphia director of the Salvation Army's Youth Program, outlined the steps necessary in establishing a community center, when he spoke to Rotarians at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

"Leadership of outstanding character is the most essential item in the organization of a youth program, and equipment is secondary," Henderson told the club.

Wallace Murfit, Newtown, Bucks County chairman of the Salvation Army drives, introduced the speaker. Murfit explained the ultimate goal of the Salvation Army is to make men and women better citizens and that in their youth program the Salvation Army is trying to bring to youth a sense of responsibility.

The guest present was A. H. Queen, president of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce. It is understood that the Chamber of Commerce is interested in an organized youth's program for Bristol. Among other guests present was A. E. Lewis, former co-chairman of the Bucks County Salvation Army drive; Francis L. Mathews, director of the Bristol office of the Pennsylvania Employment Service; and guests from the Morrisville and Bensalem Rotary clubs.

Included in Henderson's suggestions for the establishment of a youth program were the following items: a planning council; community survey to determine needs; determination of the type of organization wanted; knowledge of what is wanted (aims and objectives); playground facilities; indoor facilities; and proper leadership.

SUIT FILED AFTER FALL DOWN STAIRS IN HILLTOWN TWP.

Mrs. Anna Godshall, 53, Claims Damages; Names
The Andersons

KNIGHT PRESIDING

Plaintiff States She Thought She Was Entering The 'Phone Booth

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 17—Claiming injuries were sustained when she fell down the stairs into the basement of the Roadside Rendezvous, tap-room and restaurant located on Bethlehem Pike, Hilltown Township, Mrs. Anna Godshall, 53, of Orville, is seeking damages. She has named the owners, Frank and Anna Anderson.

The case was called for trial in civil court before Judge Harold G. Knight, of the Montgomery county courts, who is sitting on the bench this week in the absence of Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

Mrs. Godshall, who had worked at the Roadside Rendezvous as a short order cook on three or four nights, testified that she drove to the place on the evening of July 18, 1945, for the purpose of asking Mrs. Anderson whether she would go with her the following day to Allentown.

"While at the Andersons I walked through the hall to make a telephone call to my daughter," Mrs. Godshall testified. "I opened a door that I thought was the telephone room and took one step in as I felt for the electric light, and then I fell downstairs and was unconscious for 20 minutes."

Mrs. Godshall testified that she was taken to the Elm Terrace Hospital, Lansdale, where she was a patient for three weeks.

The plaintiff testified that the telephone at the Roadside Rendezvous is a public telephone and that she had been in the telephone room only once before, when she worked there in 1944.

"I thought there was only one door off the hall," the plaintiff testified. The door leading to the telephone room is next to the door leading to the cellar steps. Mrs. Godshall said there was no light in the hall.

W. I. L. Representative Is Speaker Before Sorosis

LANGHORNE, Jan. 17—A representative of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom addressed members of Langhorne Sorosis yesterday afternoon. The guest was Mrs. John Arnett, secretary of that organization in this district. The meeting was held in the Langhorne library.

Mrs. Arnett, introduced by Mrs. Henry L. Ridge, chairman of International relations committee, dealt with the history of the W. I. L. and told of the influence of Jane Adams on the organization. She spoke specifically of the 10th session held at Luxembourg last summer, when 24 United States delegates were in attendance, and 29 countries represented.

"The purpose of the organization," commented Mrs. Arnett, "is to help us to be better workers for peace; and to show the means and ways of reaching forth." She mentioned that the first few days of the Luxembourg sessions were devoted to discussion of the war years; and the next few days the specific problems such as conscription, atomic control, etc. The speaker mentioned that "naturally the accomplishments of the meetings were not concrete, but nevertheless they instilled a belief within the delegates in the fellowship of man and the urge for peace, as well as the fundamental belief that peace is possible, and war not an absolute necessity."

A general discussion followed the presentation of the subject.

Mrs. Phillip G. Lewis presided during the course of the business of the day. Two announcements were made: Meeting of the book club on January 23rd at 10:30 a. m., at the home of Mrs. Henry Ridge; and meeting of American Home committee February 4th, at nine a. m., at the home of Mrs. Lewis. Box lunches are to be taken to these two meetings by committee members.

Yesterday being a tea day, the hospitality committee was in charge of this feature.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Perhaps there could be no more significant tribute to the fame of Benjamin Franklin than the circumstance that in this year, 157 years after his death, his birthday is being celebrated throughout the country. He was born January 17, 1706.

Franklin has been described as the most versatile man that the country has produced. Printers have a claim to him, for he was a superior printer. Newspapersmen believe that his great service as a patriot really sprang from an experience, when he was fifteen, with tyranny. In that year, his brother, James, printer and editor of a newspaper, the New England Courant, was jailed for a month by the speaker of the Massachusetts Assembly for "a too liberal exercise of his critical faculties." Benjamin deeply resented this restraint on freedom of discussion.
He became a crusading champion of all kinds of liberty.

His story is familiar to the American people. His discoveries in science were quickly acclaimed — especially in England — as among the most important of all time. His writings revealed an imposing literary stature. His contribution to the diffusion of learning was in itself enough to secure for him a lasting place in history.

But the country will ever honor him above all else for his success in persuading France to come into the war for liberation on the side of the colonies. Without France, the colonies might have won their freedom; with France, they were sure to win. Franklin did that — at the age of 71. He will stand always among the greatest Americans.

ON THE WAY DOWN

Consumers are likely to be more than a little confused when Department of Agriculture economists say one day that food prices will remain high during the first part of this year and, on the next, a dispatch from Chicago notes that transactions in commodity futures portend lower price levels. At first glance it appears that either the government experts or the brokers must be wrong.

But the conflict is more apparent than real. Careful reading of the two news items reveals that the government economists were looking only a few months ahead, for the most part, while the dealers in futures on the Chicago market are buying and selling for delivery three months to a year from now. Moreover, in the case of certain products, the department's experts peered farther into the future and arrived at the same conclusion as the brokers.

So it appears that Chicago futures quotations indicating important price declines in a number of foods by summer hold out a very real prospect that the consumer's dollar will go a great deal further six months from now.
Some foods will stay high and may even rise in price somewhat in the period immediately ahead.
But a change is on the way.

cently selected will not be remembered as long as Sally Rand.

On the contrary, it is to be assumed that the many writers, "thinkers," and others whose names appear have never seriously analyzed the matter of just where the Society's position leads.

The thesis of the organization is to hate Germany. There is a bitter industry about the way this is undertaken that borders on abnormal psychology. The successive issues of the Society's magazine dwell heavily on German brutality in the war and alleged inhumanity in general. Semi-studious surveys of purported differences between German mentality and that of other races are common. So are cartoons of Nazi leaders and pictures of Americans maimed in war.

As an emotional release, this may be as good a way as any of venting the repressions and distortions which war produces in any people which has to force its feelings to the stage of being willing to slaughter its opponents.

No one will seriously argue that making a fetish of hating Germany is a constructive approach to world problems, nor that it is in line with the counsel of the Savior who preached the gospel of forgiving one's enemies, and turning the other cheek to them.

Many of those who are, so to speak, charter members of the Society saw the war from such close-up view that its horrors are indelibly impressed upon their minds.

But when the idea of everybody getting together and "hating Germany to pieces" is deliberately made into an approach for evaluating world affairs, and trying to guide the future of peace (as the Society's publicity attempts to do), then the results are not only strange but mischievous.

"Hating Germany" is an act of very important and calculated effect in world policy. If that is the most vital thing we have to do, then Russia's rapid post-war aggressions are of secondary importance.

In fact, there is no single world reaction, on the emotional level, which would help Russia more in grabbing the rest of what she wants, than this same sentiment of "hating Germany."

Russia has justified, in her own mind at least, all of her high-handed, greedy, oppressive and two-faced recent conduct on the excuse that she hates and fears Germany. If that emotion is kept in the foreground, it conceals the fact that in the last two years Russia has been following exactly the same road Hitler adopted—that of attempted world conquest.

There were those in the war who urged a Carthaginian peace for Germany—sought the full destruction of the industrial and economic resources of that nation. The Morgenthau plan adopted that line. But it was repudiated—not only by President Roosevelt, but by the whole nation, by the Potsdam agreement, by the United Nations.

The hate-Germany thesis is the excuse, in the arena of peace negotiations, for a host of fallacies and injustices. To name a single point, it is the one apology for United Nations' reluctance thus far upon the theory that might makes right, rather than the reverse—which is the only true principle upon which peace will ever be built.

More specifically, fear and hatred of Germany is Russia's pretext for clinging to the veto power, which already has stymied all the United Nations' efforts to attain unity in its work, to strive for justice and fair-play for smaller nations, and to answer the problem of what to do about the atomic bomb.
It will be readily seen that the Society cannot limit its function to what Sophocles called the "catharsis" of emotion, and that it is embarked on a course which, having a strong bias in international politics, is bound to take it farther and farther into the extremes of propaganda.

A single specific example, otherwise of little importance, will show the method and extent to which distortion and suppression must unfailingly be resorted to in trying to drive home a pre-conceived point.

A current publication jumps all over Dr. Karl Brandt, who is a food economist of world reputation, because, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, Dr. Brandt reported that German people "are starving—slowly, quietly, in different degrees in different localities—but starving nonetheless—and through that starvation moving towards a complete economic revolution."

The Society's editor is incensed over what he feels may be a sympathy-breeding statement. He charges Dr. Brandt of pro-German bias, and attempts to disprove his report by another one made by Mrs. I. A. R. Wylie in the Ladies Home Journal.
Mrs. Wylie found the German children "pink-cheeked, sturdy and vigorous."

But what the Society finds convenient to omit is that Dr.
Brandt was talking of the Germans who are UNDER RUSSIA, and Mrs. Wylie of those in and near the Ruhr, and therefore UNDER U. S. A.

The editorial dodges the whole purport of the Dr. Brandt article, which is that Russia is using starvation as a deliberate implement to "condition" her part of Germany for the acceptance of Communism. Why is this suppressed? That's an interesting question!

Inside Your Congress

We spent money like drunken sailors during the war. Do you remember the labor racket in building the soldier camps, as an example of the waste? Nor did we realize how high enough during the war — at least, those who were getting the dough. We are still pouring billions overseas under the one world notion that we have no right to be better off in America than other people. I say, why not, if we have earned it?

Now, with the war over we find that our money supply — currency and checks — has increased 200 per cent since 1939 and 400 per cent since 1932. And there is where our inflation comes from. That is why you can't buy back that house you sold ten years ago. As President Parkinson of the Equitable Life Assurance Society says, prices are not inflation — money is inflation.

Yet the lobbies are still pressuring Washington for "federal aid" to schools, highways, airports and everything we haven't the courage to tax ourselves to buy right where we live.

Social reform? Yes. Economic reform? Yes. But I say no reform is worth the candle unless it rests on a solvent government.

I know a man who has a "social security" card issued by Bismarck's

Germany fifty years ago. How much would it be worth to him now, even if he had not come to America?
Think it over.

Before we go in for much more social reform in Washington, we had better reform our thinking about money as wealth. If we do that we could put social reform on a sound basis.

The $10,000,000,000 spending proposed by Mr. Truman averages over $1,000 per family. This is to be gotten either by taxes or debt.

To keep on saying, like a lot of pundits, that a "U. S. government bond is the safest investment in the world" does not answer the question. It is. There is no question about that. I advise everyone to hold his bonds, and to re-invest them when they fall due. But this is an unsafe world. Let us go to the heart of the problem. It is that government costs too much, spends too much, taxes too much, goes into debt too much. Let us make our government safe — financially. Then the bonds will follow along. The tail goes with the hide.

Husband Changes Attitude at Court

The plaintiff, who was operating his car south, was awarded the identical amount claimed in the statement of claim.

Claiming $1,000 damages John N.
Reese, Fairhill, Hilltown township, was the plaintiff in a trial before President Judge Hiram H. Keller in which the defendant was Jacob Schmell, Passer, whose wife was killed in a two-car crash on Route 309 September 22, 1945, near Line Lexington.

The plaintiff, who had stopped at a service station at the intersection of Orvilla-Hatfield road, had driven out on the Bethlehem Pike when his car was struck by the defendant's.

The plaintiff's car rested 59 feet from the point of the collision and the defendant's 45 feet from the point of impact.

The defendant, who is 80 years old and deaf, testified that when he saw the plaintiff's car he turned to the left and the crash followed.
Had the defendant kept to his right-hand side of the highway, the crash would never have happened, it was claimed.

"The plaintiff's car was about 39 feet away when I first saw it," the 80-year-old driver testified.
The plaintiff testified that he first saw the defendant approaching about 500 feet away when he decided to pull out from the service station into the highway to make a left hand turn.

The jury returned a verdict of $125.50 in favor of the plaintiff, Reese.

unions. This was most forcefully demonstrated in all its terrifying implications in the recent coal strike. And even now, our Supreme Court is being called upon to decide whether or not one or two or three men may lawfully take America by the throat and destroy it by an industry-devastating strike. The irony of this whole situation lies in the fact that those who would thus destroy our national economy claim, like the Communists, the benefit of our laws to sanction their actions, a sad commentary upon the abyssal depth to which our laws and our national character have fallen.

Concluding, the speaker said: "What America needs now more than anything else is men and women who will dare to stand for what is right, rather than for what is expedient; who will place honesty and character above political power and prestige; and who will guard our hard-won American liberties faithfully and, if need be, with their lives and fortunes. I believe that God intended America to be the instrument through which individual liberty shall be brought to every people and every land, and it is our duty to make it so."

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Henry L. Heavener

There is not a heart so burdened, there is not a soul so sad, but that God's protecting shield will lessen the load and give peace and rest. At the close of a toilsome day we are thankful for the shelter of Thy bosom, O Lord. We pray that Thy will keep each one of us walking close to Thee and that we may never be out of constant fellowship with Thee. May we live so during this life that when we approach the life to come, we may not do so in fear and trembling but rather as one who has completed his work and is now going forth to attain his reward. Let Thy spirit be our guide and companion in all that we do and think. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

SPORTSMEN'S

By JOE ELBERSON

New officers . . . at the annual meeting of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Tuesday evening of this week, the following men were elected to serve during 1947: President, Ollie Hobbs; vice-president, John Baker; treasurer, John Conca; secretary, Paul Keating.

This slate is one of the finest ever to head the organization. Every one of them has a keen interest in the Association's program, and 1947 should be an outstanding year for the Club under their leadership. Headlining the entertainment program for the meeting, Tuesday evening, was the presentation of a magic and mind reading show by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley E. Bell.

Winners . . . here are the winners of the poultry shoot conducted by the Edgely Red and Gun Club last Sunday afternoon: Squad No. 1: William Warner, 1st; Wayne Warner, 2nd, Squad No. 2: B. Brodsh, 1st; J. S. Fine, 2nd, Squad No. 3: J. McCue, 1st; E. Ely, 2nd, Squad No. 4: C. Blittle, 1st; J. S. Lynn, 2nd, Squad No. 5: Glen Cobbleigh, 1st; F. Davies, 2nd, Squad No. 6: William Quinn, 1st; B. Brodsh, 2nd, Squad No. 7: William Warner, 1st; J. McCue, 2nd, Squad No. 8: J. Elberson, 1st; William Bossler, 2nd.

In the 12 pair doubles event William Quinn was high with 20 and C. Blittle took second place with an 18.

Harry Bossler won a turkey by capturing the dead mark event.

1946 fish stocking . . . a total of 49,700 fish were stocked in open water of Bucks County during 1946 by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, according to a release recently made public by Harry Cole, State Fish Warden. This compares with a total of 51,825 in 1944 and 69,000 in 1945.

Although the 1946 figures were under the two preceding years the size of the fish stocked more than made up the difference in quantity. The fish stocked last year were undoubtedly the finest ever placed in our streams and ponds. This was particularly true of Silver Lake where some of the finest bass, yellow perch, bream and catfish I have ever seen were released.

Of the county total of 49,700, more than 10 per cent (10,750), were stocked in Maple Beach, Silver Lake and the Canal.

Here are the complete county figures: Neshmainy Creek: 2500 catfish, 1600 bass and 1200 bream. Little Neshmainy Creek: 600 catfish, 650 bass and 400 bream. Tobicon Creek: 1650 catfish, 2200 bass and 800 bream. Lake Warren: 2000 catfish, 600 bass and 750 bream.

N. E. Branch of the Perkiomen: 1300 catfish, 700 bass and 500 bream. Unami Creek: 1200 catfish, 900 bass and 800 bream. Pidecock Creek: 200 catfish and 200 bream. Dickel's Lake: 950 catfish and 450 bream. Cook's Creek: 5900 brook trout and 4500 brown trout fingerling. Mill Creek: 500 brown trout and 1400 brook trout.

Three-Mile Run: 300 catfish and 400 bream. Ingham's Run: 1300 brown trout and 650 brook trout. Pine Creek: 700 catfish and 500 bream. Deep Run: 350 catfish and 200 bream.

Silver Lake: 2500 catfish, 1700 bream, 400 yellow perch and 1350 bass. Maple Beach: 1300 catfish and 500 bream. Canal, from Bristol to New Hope: 1600 catfish, 600 bream and 800 bass.
